FREIGHT RATES
MAY BE CUTPresident Harding Confers
With Cummins of the Inter-State Commerce.

Washington, May 31.—It was intimated at the White House today that a reduction of railroad freight rates would be brought about. The Administration does not agree with the position of the representatives of carriers now appearing before the Senate committee that no reduction is possible.

The President conferred last week with Senator Cummins, chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Commission, and conferred again today with Senator Cummins and Director General Davis at luncheon over the general railroad situation, with a view to finding some way of relieving the terrific strain under which the carriers are now laboring.

It has been brought to the attention of the President that unless there is immediate and effective relief given the carriers, several of the larger carriers will be in the hands of receivers within the next 60 days.

The problem most discussed at the luncheon today was that of indebtedness on both sides. The question has arisen as to whether the obligation of $750,000,000 of the railroads to the Government should be funded over a period of 10 years, as provided in the Transportation Act, or paid out of current earnings. The indebtedness originally aggregated $1,150,000,000, but has been reduced by payments.

It is discretionary with the President whether the debt shall be funded, paid out of current earnings or used as an offset against the amount claimed due the roads by the Government. The roads claim the Government owes them $1,150,000,000. The funding would give the Government time to determine exactly what it owes the roads.

The Government in taking control of the lines obligated itself to put in as much upkeep as the railroads during the test period. The roads claim the Government labor was inefficient and did not represent what they could have accomplished.

In the opinion of Senator Cummins litigation will be necessary to ascertain the sum due the roads. It is expected that a test case will be instituted in the near future.

FINANCIAL CON-
DITIONS BETTERBusiness Depression For 1921 is Over; Optimism Should Prevail Now.

New York, June 2.—The business depression of 1921 has definitely passed and the financial condition of the country is such now that it should inspire only optimism, W. P. G. Harding, governor of the federal reserve board declared today in an address before the annual meeting of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

The financial condition of the federal reserve is stronger than it has been and banks are anxious to lend money to legitimate business.

"The public has a lot of buying power left; we want to get the people out of the idea that prices are going lower and lower," he asserted.

"We should get some stability into the situation, buying power begets buying power. When you start up one industry you automatically start up another."

"The federal reserve banks, which are the ultimate resources of all member banks and through them of the public, are in a position now better than ever before, to extend to all legitimate business all assistance needed—they are anxious for business to avail itself of their assistance."

It was brought out at today's session that many of the other car and truck companies, feeling that the present standard of prices will continue, have priced their products according to present levels of the market.

Charles Clifton of the Pierce Arrow Motor Car company, was elected president of the chamber.

FARMERS NEED BIG BUSINESS WAYSA Thorough Systematized
Scheme of Teamwork is Necessary.

When Congress lawsmiths have set out to do anything for the American farmer in the past they usually have devoted themselves to trying to harness rainbows as if they were a span of horses, is the opinion of the Editor of the New York Herald. But the "agricultural bloc" of twenty-two United States Senators looks like a gun of heavy calibre. The farm laws the Senators propose to put into effect took like a reasonable, practical programme.

What the farmers need more than anything else is a thoroughly systematized scheme of cooperation, team work and operation on broad gauge lines. American business did not amount to much of anything at home and it did not amount to anything at all abroad until it began to consolidate and coordinate little units into big business organizations. Labor unions got what they gained for themselves by pulling together in localities and forming alliances throughout the country. American transportation could not attain high efficiency until the railroads of the nation became linked physically, economically and financially.
